Summary

I write with enthusiasm in response to your offer for Civil Engineering position. Your institution's stellar reputation for providing quality services and project support to your clients is well-known, and I am motivated to join your team. As an undergraduate, I have balanced my heavy course load and several extracurricular activities which have allowed me to enhance skills that would be relevant to this role, example, 3D design and modelling, an understanding of material engineering and experience with different manufacturing technologies.
